1. Chlorophyll a (Chl a) and Chlorophyll b (Chl b) are the two main photosynthetic pigments in green plants. They are responsible for capturing light energy and converting it into chemical energy through the process of photosynthesis. Chl a is the primary pigment, while Chl b acts as an accessory pigment, transferring energy to Chl a.

1. Chlorophyll a (Chl a) and Chlorophyll b (Chl b) are the primary photosynthetic pigments in green plants. They are responsible for capturing light energy and converting it into chemical energy through the process of photosynthesis. Chl a is the most abundant pigment, while Chl b is present in smaller amounts. Both pigments absorb light most efficiently in the blue and red regions of the visible spectrum.

REMARKS

BUREAU OF CENSUS
DIVISION OF THE CENSUS

The image shows a document, possibly a ledger or a form, tilted at an angle. The document is white with black text and lines. There is a circular hole near the bottom center of the page. The text is mostly illegible due to the tilt and blurriness, but some words are visible, such as "MEMBER OF FAMILY" and "BIRTHPLACE". The document appears to be a record of family members, with columns for names, birthplaces, and other details. The handwriting is in cursive or a similar script. The document is placed on a dark, textured surface.

• Generalized Anxiety Disorder is characterized by excessive, persistent, and uncontrollable worry about a variety of everyday events and activities. The worry is not limited to a specific object or situation and is not attributable to a substance or medical condition. The worry is often accompanied by physical symptoms such as restlessness, fatigue, difficulty concentrating, irritability, muscle tension, and sleep disturbance. The worry is persistent, lasting for at least six months, and is severe enough to cause significant distress or impairment in social, occupational, or other important areas of functioning.
